Interests And Achievements

I have a number of interests starting with my enthusiasm for sport, where I played rugby for 11 years, & have played tennis and ultimate frisbee at university. The Duke of Edinburgh award was also a real interest which involved development of new skills and several months volunteering in charity shops which strengthened my existing communication skills.

I was also involved with the schools pupil council for a number of years too with these transferable skills contributing to me being awarded the position of Deputy Head Boy at school.

Key Skills

One of my personal strengths is organisation with time and work, which has been developed at university with the focus on independent learning.

However, perhaps my focal skill is the ability to get on with others, so I think of myself as an empathetic individual. I believe I have a diligent, hardworking attitude which is reflected by my exam results and I give my all to tasks I undertake. Combining these skills I would like to think I can be someone who one could trust.
